

Okanogan Conservation District Photo Contest

“Picture it; Capture the Seasons of Conservation”

The Okanogan Conservation District is hosting a year-long photo contest with the theme of “Conservation, Agriculture, and Natural Resources in Okanogan County.” Each month, the District will release three words that we feel embodies that month. Photographers will then have the opportunity to send in pictures that they feel capture the spirit of the month in one or more of those words. We tried to choose words that are fairly abstract and these words are merely a guide, photographers are free to use other inspiration as well. The only requirements are that the photos are from Okanogan County and relate to conservation, agriculture, or natural resources. The winning photos for each month will be compiled into a calendar to be released in 2012. Each monthly winner will receive a free calendar and be credited in the calendar. Calendars will be available for purchase as well.

The mission of the Okanogan Conservation District is to help landowners achieve their conservation goals. District staff, supervisors, and their families are not eligible to enter.

Submission deadlines will be on a rolling basis. For example, the deadline for April pictures will April 30, 2011, May pictures on May 31, and so on. All ages welcome, up to three submissions per person per month are allowed.

Contest begins now! The words for May are “green, flowers, and planting”.
